

Leadership: Beyond the Battle

An Unforgettable Experience at Gettysburg

The Adams County Historical Society – home of Gettysburg’s new, award-winning Beyond the Battle Museum – invites your team to experience a leadership program that brings together the heroic stories of soldiers and the harrowing experiences of civilians who were caught in the crossfire. By visiting this sacred ground and engaging with the lessons of our shared past, participants will gain new insights into effective communication, strategic planning, and teamwork.

What makes Leadership: Beyond the Battle unique?

1

New Leadership Perspectives

While decisions from the Battle of Gettysburg were made more than 160 years ago, leaders of the 21st century can still learn from historical examples of communication, strategic planning, and team building that have stood the test of time. In addition to discussing the military leaders at Gettysburg, Leadership: Beyond the Battle also provides lessons from ordinary civilians who took on extraordinary responsibility during and after the battle. Our program includes stops at fascinating historic sites off the beaten path and not open to the general public.

Flexibility & Customization

From one-day to multi-day itineraries, our program can be tailored to include lessons that best fit your organizational needs. Optional additions to the program include catered meals in our event center, access to our museum, Beyond the Battle, internal meeting space with state-of-the-art equipment, and a guided tour of our on-site library and archives.

“One of the best training events I’ve attended...insightful, valuable, and it was a bonus to be outside and exercise while learning.”

3

Knowledgeable and Engaging Faculty

The team at Leadership: Beyond the Battle combines historical expertise with knowledge of the modern business world and how the lessons of 1863 can be applied in the present. All curriculum used in the program is reviewed and approved by a team of Licensed Battlefield Guides, historians, and business professionals.

"I liked how we related the types of leaders in the Civil War to the types of leaders we all encounter on a day-to-day basis. I would recommend this training to anyone in a leadership role."

4 Hands-On, Active Learning Opportunities

Take an active role in learning with Leadership: Beyond the Battle. Participants will not only discuss the decisions made by leaders in 1863 — they will also SEE the results of those decisions first-hand on the battlefield.

5 On-Site Options for Meetings & Debriefs

Beyond the Battle Museum has two meeting spaces that can be used by groups for internal workshops and catered meals. The Seminar Room is perfect for groups of 20 or fewer participants. With a stunning view of Gettysburg, the Battlefield Overlook Event Center is ideal for larger groups, with ample room for discussions and seated meals. Both spaces include brand new sound, lighting, and AV systems.

"The valuable lessons and insights on both Union and Confederate decisions really brought into focus how even minor decisions in our day-to-day interactions can make a tremendous difference, both good and bad."

"Not only did I learn from the training itself but also from other participants with different points of view and insightful perspectives."
